

CASPIAN OPENS UP A WORLD OF INTRIGUING DELIGHTS FOR SS20

Inspired by the Silk Road, Sanderson Caspian opens up a world of intriguing and captivating delights with its exotic fusion of versatile designs, new for SS20.

Laden with treasures and an air of anticipation, intrepid explorers crossed continents paving the way for the Silk Road. Trading a new and exciting blend of goods and stories, tastes and sense opened up to a world of intriguing and exotic delights.

For more than 1,000 years the Silk Road has linked Asia with the Mediterranean Sea, surrounded by regions remarkable for their textural heritage and bordered by the Caspian Sea, from which this collection takes its name.

Igniting imaginations and a sense of adventure, the romance of faraway places captured in printed cottons, warp-printed silks and hand painted papers have influenced the way we decorate our homes. These cherished items have inspired Sanderson Caspian, a captivating collection new for SS20.

Rebecca Craig, head of design at Sanderson says, "Caspian is a celebration of country house style and the impact trade routes, specifically the Silk Road, have had on design. We've included a glorious mix of cultural styles from Chinoiserie to Uzbek and from Indian to English country house, fusing exotic influences with a fluid versatility."
